A DISPATCH from Jonesboro, in the fruit section of this State, expresses the opinion that the late sleet-storm has done no harm to fruit trees in that vicinity. Fruit buds, including peaches, are reported all right thus far, and the prospects for a large crop of fruit of all kinds are very promising.

Will wonders never cease? Here is an Ohio man—Judge Nicholas Langworth—who says he does not want to be Governor. When it is remembered that the Judge could have the Republican nomination without asking, and that his great popularity would certainly make his nomination equivalent to an election, it becomes a pari passu indeed, for Ohio.

The new executive of Pennsylvania is probably convinced by this time that the lot of a "Reform" governor is not a happy one. His official acts have not pleased any portion of the people except that wing of the Democratic party which represents its worst side, and Gov. Pattison finds himself with scarcely a following, and his incipient presidential boom snuffed out, as it were, before it had fairly got started.

The Legislature has entered upon its regular biennial investigations, and proposes to pursue these time-wasting amusements at a cost to the people of some $2,000 per day, which is about the expense of running the general assembly, Sundays included. Every such useless "investigation" helps to protract the session, taking up time that might be devoted to some useful purpose, and seldom results in anything except possibly to make capital for some ambitious member.

For many years the late Senator Ben Hill and Alexander H. Stephens, now Governor of Georgia, were bitter enemies. Not speaking to or of each other. An exchange says the origin of their enmity was a desperate contest for office, which waxed so hot that Stephens challenged Hill for a duel. The latter having the moral courage to decline, wrote his challenger a very caustic letter, in which he used the following language: "I am opposed to dueling on principle, and, moreover, I cannot fight you, Mr. Stephens, because the conditions are not equal. I have a soul to save and a family to care for. You have neither the one nor the other."

Last fall's elections did not afford much comfort to the temperance people, but there has sprung up a question in the legislature of Illinois and throughout the state, which promises to accomplish what the temperance folks have never yet achieved—a division in the ranks of the liquor element. The question referred to is that of high license, and while the advocates of prohibition do not seem to take kindly to the scheme, upon the theory they cannot afford to make any compromise with what they consider a great evil, the liquor dealers and manufacturers are considerably divided upon the issue. One member of the great distilling firm of Wampler Bros., at Peoria, has written to a representative from that county, urging upon him the duty of favoring a high license law, and there are many others among the more prominent dealers and manufacturers who hold similar views. The chief object of temperance people ought to be to eradicate as much as possible the evils of intemperance, and if they cannot succeed to the extent they desire, the plainest dictates of common sense should show them that they will be directed in duty if they fail to take the best they can get. A half a loaf is better than no bread, even in matters of temperance reform, and if a high license law will lessen the number of saloons in our cities and towns it will certainly accomplish some good.

Col. Hitt, the veteran of LaSalle county, recalls but one winter—1830-31—that was colder and more prolonged than the present. During that season he was one of a surveying party that had been to the state capital at Vandalia, and in returning by the Pony and Indian Guide line, encamped at Fort Smith, on the bottom lands opposite Peoria. A heavy snowstorm set in while there, and by the next day snow lay on the ground to the depth of three and a half feet. The party then set out toward Fort Dearborn, (now Chicago), but only made six miles before night—retreating their steps to the fort, they left their ponies, procured snow shoes and concluded their journey. In February he returned to Fort Smith, and noted that during the whole journey there was not to be seen an icicle six inches long, so intense and continuous had been the cold.

100,000,000 Tons of Gas in the Air.

A recent writer in Nature called attention to the pollution of the air by burning of coal, and calculated that in the year 1900 all the animal life will cease to exist on the globe, from the amount of carbonic oxide thus produced. But another correspondent points out that most of the gas is washed out of the air by the rain. There were, however, some products of combustion, as hydrogen and the hydrocarbons, which are not removed by the rain. Of these unburned gases it is estimated that 100,000,000 tons have escaped in the air during the last thirty years. What will be the result of this accumulation? We may conclude that the increasing pollution of the atmosphere will have a marked influence on the climate of the world. The mountainous regions will be colder, the Arctic regions will be colder, the tropics will be warmer, and throughout the world the nights will be colder, and the days warmer. In the temperate zone winter will be colder, and generally differences will be greater—winds, storms, rainfall greater.

Cabinet Dinners.

Many of those reading the descriptions of the splendid dinners and other entertainments at Washington must wonder how members of the President's Cabinet can manage to afford such display. Their salaries are only $5,000 a year and they have to pay a heavy rent. Living may be, say, 10 per cent. cheaper at Washington than at New York, but even assuming this, the mystery of this magnificence in hospitality, honest and feminine attire is not to be explained except by the hypothesis that a Minister draws heavily on private resources. An English Cabinet Minister of the first class has $25,000 a year and two or three have residences. A French Minister has $12,000 with a fine furnished residence and certain allowances, aggregating at least $15,000 a year. In London if a minister has little but his official salary he is not expected to entertain, that burden falling upon his wealthy colleagues. The late Sir George Grey, for example, who was long in office, lived in quite a small house and only gave one annual state dinner, at a hotel, on the Queen's birthday. The Nation has now put the President in a position to entertain handsomely without trenching on his private fortune, and it is but right and proper that he should do so; but this custom of his Cabinet entertaining one another with gorgeous banquets would be much more honored in the breach than the observance.

When the distillers in Kentucky first asked for the extension of the bonded period, they came as humble supplicants at the bar of the American people, asking for a favor. They had made so much whiskey that it would inconvenience them to pay the tax on it just then. On their honor as business men they only wanted a little time. If this were granted then they would stop producing, and proceed to dispose of their product in the shortest time possible. Congress listened and yielded. What was the result? The Kentucky distillers ran and made more whiskey than ever before. They went all over the country and sold to all the dealers, druggists, saloon-keepers and everybody else whiskey in bond, telling them that they would not have to pay the taxes until they were obliged to use it, and then only as they took it out of the government warehouse. The Kentucky distillers worked this scheme for all it was worth. Now when the time has come for them to take their liquor tax of bond, they change their tune. They no longer beg the extension as a favor to themselves, but they declare it is not done it will ruin the whole country. It is well to remark that if this dreadful result is to follow whenever whiskey is taken out of bond, the sooner we meet the calamity the sooner it will be over, and the better it will be for all of us. Only a year or two ago, and the extension of the bonded period only affected a few persons. Now if the Kentucky distillers are to be believed, it reaches out and covers the whole country. In a few more years at this rate of progression it will swallow up everything else. We think therefore that further feigning with this interest is useless. It should be brought up with a round turn and made to obey the law. This American nation is not to be used for the bung hole of whiskey fraud.—Peoria Journal.

At a playing party at Findlay, Ohio, Jesse Taylor was invited to sit down between two ladies who sat on chairs quite close together. Just as he was in the act of taking the preferred seat they moved away, causing him to sit down so hard that he broke his neck, which broke up the party. Now one of the girls is so crazy that it is feared she will have to be taken to the insane asylum.

A lady who resides in Detroit recently visited Niagara Falls, accompanied by her little boy, an intelligent child of 5 years. When they had looked a long time at the mighty volume of water hastening to its grand abyss, the mother turned to the boy and inquired: "What do you say to that, Alfred?" The little fellow lifted his awe-struck eyes, and solemnly answered: "Mamma, I feel like taking off my hat to God."

As an eastern train was nearing Cheyenne a drummer made an insubstantial remark to a lady whose acquaintance he had made. The lady rose to her feet and called out: "Has any man in this car a revolver about him?" If there is I wish he would lend it to me and I'll put an end to this second-class insult!" The drummer rushed to the end of the car and jumped off, going into Cheyenne by the back door.

How Ireland is Ruled.

The Castle system has been described by Mr. Herbert Gladstone and others as the worst form of government in the world. Let us see what the Irish Government is. It consists of the Lord Lieutenant and the Privy Council (a knot of Judges whom it would be gross flattery to call old women), an Irish Secretary and a host of permanent officials. These are the puppets. The people who pull the strings are a large number of white-livered, panic-stricken country gentlemen, and a select body of resident magistrates and police inspectors to whom it is a matter of great moment to get themselves talked of in some way in order to be promoted. Except in the rare moments when English public opinion (forced by Parnell & Co.) put pressure on the "Castle," the Castle always does what these wretched country gentlemen and these officials on their promotion tell it to do. If any one can imagine the father of a family ruling his grown-up sons upon principles suggested by their little sisters in the nursery and their mother's maid, who wants the place of housekeeper, he will have an exact fac-simile of the system of Dublin Castle.

ALASKA must go another year without a Government. Those who would like to explore it, or fish in its overstocked streams, or wash for gold or trade with the Indians, must do so at their own risk. An attempt was made on Monday to suspend the rules in the House and pass the bill to give the Territory a civil government, but it failed. The United States have now been in possession of Alaska for twenty years, but its owners know as little of it as when it first became theirs. The only representative of the Government is a gunboat, which shells the Indian villages when the room of the occupants is more desirable than their company to the corporation which has so far got all the benefits of our $7,000,000 purchase. This seems hardly the way to treat a district which is twice as large as France, and from which keep coming vague but constant reports of wonderfully rich gold diggings, cedar forests that would outstrip those of Lebanon, and swarming fisheries. This is not the way France and England treat their new acquisitions. Why does not the Government survey Alaska? The Military Department of the Pacific should send an expedition to spy out the land. It was in this way that the wonders of the Yellowstone were made known to the proprietors. Perhaps it has been forgotten by the powers that be that Alaska really does belong to the people, that it was paid for by the people's money, and that if it really does contain gold, and cedar, and salmon of priceless value it is the business of the Government to open the country to the public.

Or the political situation in Pennsylvania the Philadelphia Times says: "Two weeks ago the Republicans had a powerful and ably-led minority of Independents in their ranks, waging war against the Republican boss system and the prostitution of public office to the payment of personal obligations. To-day the Republican Independents have been driven to make common cause with the Republican regulars to wage war against the Democratic boss system, organized on a lower grade of political reward for personal services, and the Democratic spirit, as now a powerful minority, if not a positive majority, ready to hoist the Independent flag against the Cassidy spoilsman."

The explanation that State Treasurer Vincent, of Alabama, lost the $250,000 of State money in speculation is false. It was made by his friends as a sort of mitigation because it is fashionable for defuncts to make this excuse, and to be an unfortunate speculator with other people's money is considered more honorable and more high-toned than to be a common thief. Vincent was poor when he took the office, and his salary has been $2,500 a year. It is now developed that his wife owns $20,000 worth of diamonds, and that a month ago he presented her with a house and lot which cost $20,000, or more than twice as much as his entire salary for his term of office. Those familiar with his habits say that he has lived at the rate of $25,000 a year, and was most extravagant in his personal expenses. The theory is that he used the State funds to speculate with from the beginning; that he made a great deal of money and spent it lavishly, so that when he began to lose he had nothing with which to restore his stolen capital.

Central Examinations. Mr. John Trainer, county superintendent of schools, returned to the city last evening from Macon, having finished holding a series of Central Examinations of teachers and advanced pupils in the country schools. This week he has visited the following points: Bowling Springs, Warrensburg and Austin Centre. Next week he will hold examinations at the Mt. Zion, Eldorado, the Ridge, Central and White schools. Teachers and pupils from six to ten different schools will attend each of these sessions. The superintendent finds that these examinations are largely attended and that they prove highly beneficial to the schools.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

SPRINGFIELD.

Talk About Gov. Hamilton's Appointments.

Destructive Fire in Quincy.

SENATE.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Feb. 8.—In the Senate, Mr. Whiting's bill to tax express companies 1 per cent. on their gross earnings, was discussed and recommended.

Mr. McGrath was confirmed as West Side Park Commissioner.

A motion to abolish the Railroad Committee prevailed. It will be reconsidered.

HOUSE.

In the House bills were introduced: By Mr. Claws, Senator Whiting's telegraph and express licensing bill.

By Mr. Fuller, giving cities the right to acquire property that reverts to them by the expiration of franchises.

By Mr. Mitchell, to provide for the same inspection of grain in Peoria and East St. Louis as in Chicago.

By Mr. Wendell, to tax express companies 1 per cent. on gross earnings.

By Mr. Pearson of Madison, to give laborers for subcontractors on railroads a lien on the roads.

By Mr. Quinn, for the appointment of a Catholic clergyman to visit the Penitentiaries.

By Mr. Matthews, to license and tax telephone companies.

After a second reading of Mr. Wendell's bill to give Chicago twenty-four wards, the bill was referred to a special committee of the Chicago members.

Mr. Kinnaman introduced a resolution asking Congressmen to vote for the Congressional Tariff bill.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Feb. 8.—The battle for appointments on the Railroad Board grows hotter and hotter every day. It is conceded that Robinson, of Wayne county, has the advantage of Stratton, Phelps, of Elmhurst, Peoria county, is believed to lead Pollock and Funk.

Certain friends of the Administration declare that no Bloomington man will be appointed as Smith's successor.

With regard to the members from the northern part of the State, W. N. Brainard, of Chicago, is being vigorously pushed, and is believed by many to be the winner, while Couch and Frank Drake have hosts of friends. The fact that Drake and Couch are from the same Congressional district militates against their chances, and the appointment of Brainard need surprise no one.

The name of Gov. Oglesby is being mentioned in this connection, but there seems to be no ground for the assertion that he is beyond doubt to be appointed, and Oglesby's friends claim that he would under no circumstances accept the office.

QUINCY, ILL., Feb. 8.—About four o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the large music and book house of T. D. Woodruff, and before it was subdued damage was done to the extent of about $400,000 in the Woodruff and Wheeler block adjoining. Woodruff's loss on stock is about $12,000; insured for $9,000. The building is insured for $6,000, which will probably cover.

Miss Lillie Clark occupied part of the 2d floor with her millinery establishment. Her loss is total, about $7,000. What insurance, if any, is not known, as Miss Clark is at Carrollton.

St. Louis, Feb. 8.—A most horrible discovery was made in a tenement house this morning. It was found that Henry Dress, a German tinsmith, had cut his wife's throat with a razor and then his own. The two corpses were discovered in the middle of three rooms which the family occupied. The body of the wife lay on a bed, the cover of which was soaked with blood. The man lay on the floor. Five little children slept in the rooms, one in bed with the couple. One of the children got up and took the baby out of the bloody bed, in which its mother lay, into his bed, changed its dress, and then went to sleep. The cause of the tragedy is supposed to be jealousy.

CLINTON, ILL., Feb. 8.—Thus afternoon ex-Judge of the county court John J. McGraw, of this city, was married to Mrs. Davenport, a well-known lady of this county. The marriage is romantic from the fact that the judge is bordering on 80 years, while his new wife is about 65 years. The judge is one of the oldest citizens in DeWitt county, having lived here sixty years.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—A Paris dispatch says it is stated that Jules Ferry declined to form a Cabinet, and President Grevy will summon Brisson for that purpose.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The report of the Committee Expulsion bill, was read in the Senate to-day. The debate on the report fixed for Saturday. The report states that in the opinion of the committee there is no cause for the Republic either to feel alarmed, or resort to the violent measures embraced in the proposed law. It would be a slip on a dangerous path, and one contrary to the ideas on which the Republic is founded.

The Socialists in France have decided to convene a meeting with the view of organizing and being in readiness for the anticipated general election for members of the Chamber of Deputies.

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—The Royal Opera House burned this morning. Loss, $75,000; insured for $20,000.

St. Louis, Feb. 8.—Oly E. Owen, the defaulting teller of the Third National Bank of this city, was arraigned in the U. S. Court to-day, and pleaded guilty. His counsel read a statement, in which Owen confessed that he gradually became involved in grain and cotton speculations, which ultimately caused his ruin. Sentence was deferred for two weeks.

St. Louis, Feb. 8.—The Republican says editorially that the reports sent abroad to the effect that the St. Louis banks have advanced $4,000,000 or any other very large sum on whisky in bond, are ridiculously untrue. Well informed bank officials opine that not more than $1,000,000 bank capital is being used in that way.

According to the latest estimates of the United States agricultural department, which were made twelve months ago, there were in the states of cattle, worth $439,000,000. Half of these are in the states and territories between the Missouri and Pacific, and what is commonly denominated the West, and according to the estimates mentioned vary in average value per head from $11.67 in Arkansas to $26 in Nebraska, and $22.90 on the 1,775,000 head in Iowa. Texas has almost twice as many as Iowa, but they are only worth $12.20 per head.

LAST night at her home, a few miles west of Decatur, the clothing of Mrs. I. B. Gring caught fire by the accidental tip-over of a kerosene lamp. Mr. Gring and his son hurried to the relief of the wife and mother, and succeeded after desperate efforts in smothering the flames. It was a very narrow escape, and but for the coolness of the father and son, Mrs. Gring would have been fatally injured. As it was she was not burned at all. A bed-quilt was used to smother the fire. Mr. Gring's hands were slightly scorched as were also those of his son.

Immense Congregations—Double Meeting Last Night—Hundreds Locked Out.

THE AFTERNOON MEETING.

As early as 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon residents of Decatur and people who had come in from the country and surrounding towns began to assemble at the First M. E. church in order to get desirable seats at the services announced to begin at 3 o'clock, and long before the exercises commenced the people were packed in the large audience room like sardines in a box. Inside the chancel rail were many pillars of the church and local ministers and visiting clergymen, among whom were Rev. Barney Smith of Wichita, Kansas; Dr. Short, president of the Illinois Methodist Female college at Jacksonville; Rev. H. M. Short, Mason City; Rev. L. Villars, Champaign; Rev. O. L. Tyndall, Wapella; Rev. H. M. Everhardt, presiding elder of Champaign district; Rev. J. A. Smith, North Platte, Neb.; Rev. J. J. Duggan, Tolono; Rev. J. Eversly, Bloomington. It was, indeed, a monster congregation, and the interest throughout was intense. Rev. Harrison conducted the exercises as usual, and spoke of the jubilee over 1,020 saved as the greatest he ever witnessed. The young evangelist devoted his remarks to a characteristic statement of the manner in which he received the baptism of the Holy Ghost, which was by prayer and faith, and then related many interesting incidents of his thirteen years of revival work. He received the full assurance of faith and has since been engaged continuously in revival work, and that he has been successful, by the help of God, to whom he ascribes all the glory, the history of the places he has visited from Maine to California fully attest. A local minister has said, "The faith of Rev. Harrison sometimes appals me," but his predictions so far as the work in Decatur is concerned have been more than fulfilled. Faith is the great secret of his power over the people. The afternoon meeting closed at 4:30 o'clock with the benediction by Dr. Davies, after which Rev. Harrison stated that in some manner the impression had got abroad that the revival would cease this week. He said: "That is a mistake; the revival will not come to an end until the work is finished," which means no doubt that it will be kept up for a month or two longer, as there is no abatement in the interest.

DOUBLE MEETING AT NIGHT.

If the church was packed at the afternoon revival it was jammed full to overflowing at night before 6:30 o'clock. Hundreds of people were turned away, and all the doors had to be looked to prevent a crush. The audience room was literally crammed full, the side and rear aisles being packed full as never before since the revival began. There were people everywhere—in the organ loft, in the study, standing and sitting about the pulpit and in the exiles on both sides of the organ. Below there were several hundred people in the lecture room who were unable to get seats or even standing room above. The great sea of up-turned faces was a sight not soon to be forgotten. It was more than an ordinary purpose that brought out such an immense congregation. There were perhaps a few who came out of curiosity, but the most of them have long been members of some church, and the others were those who are among the 1020 converts or are seriously thinking of changing their manner of living and join the ranks of professing Christians.

So great was the crowd that it was determined to hold a double meeting, and while Mr. Harrison made a short talk to the people before him, Rev. L. Villars held a revival service in the lecture room. He took for his subject the word "Come," and while he was a little confused on account of the situation in which he found himself so suddenly and unexpectedly placed, he talked with great earnestness. When the invitation for penitents to come forward was given, a half dozen responded, and they were sent up stairs in the audience room, where nearly 80 seekers were kneeling at the altar and in the front pews. Of the 35 penitents about 35 professed conversion, and at a late hour the closing service of the all-day jubilee came to an end. It was a wonderful day in the history of the revival and the church, and even greater results than have already been achieved are confidently anticipated. Rev. Harrison expects to witness the conversion of 2000 to 2500 persons before he leaves Decatur.

Mr. Harrison went to Warrensburg today where he held revival services this forenoon. It was a big meeting. Sixteen came a start. He is announced to go to Monmouth on Saturday. Regular services this afternoon and evening and next week.

Hazel Kirke

To-morrow evening the opera house will undoubtedly be crowded to witness the presentation of perhaps the greatest play of modern times, "Hazel Kirke," the same to be produced by a company with the same scenery and properties that brought it celebrity at the famous Madison Square theatre in New York. The extraordinary run of this extraordinary piece has attained the still more extraordinary "age" of over two thousand consecutive performances, and public interest in the play does not show the least sign of abatement, certainly not in this vicinity. Don't miss seeing "Hazel."

YESTERDAY M. T. Marok received a postal card from S. P. McLean, the Auburn-haired reporter. The card was mailed at Vermont, Ill., and reads: "Dear Fellow Pilgrim—We got in home O. K. at 2 this morning; laid in Peoria all day; it was mighty dull business; we are feeding high here and feel like game chickens." Sam will go to Kankakee on Monday to furnish "waddin'" for the Gazette at that place.

Emma Abbott Coming.
On Saturday, the 17th of February, the Emma Abbott Grand English Opera company will appear in this city at the opera house in two of the best operas ever given in this city. Plotow's charming opera, "Martha," including Emma Abbott's wonderful rendition of the "Last Rose of Summer," will be given at night. Further particulars to-morrow.

Re-appointed Master.

In the circuit court this forenoon John A. Brown was for the fifth time appointed Master in Chancery of Macon county, by his honor, Judge C. B. Smith. The action of Judge Smith will be highly commended by the members of the bar and people generally. There are very few counties, if any, in the state, in which the chancery business is in such good shape, or so few old cases on the docket, as in the case in Macon county. Mr. Brown is an authority on chancery matters. He is a prominent candidate for the appointment by Gov. Hamilton to a position as one of the members of the State Board of Railroad Commissioners. Should he be successful he would probably resign the office of Master in Chancery.

A PARTY OF SUPPOSED SHOVERS OF COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

A PARTY of supposed shovers of counterfeit money tried to "work" Peter Harlet at his candy store on Merchant street last evening. There was one man and two finely dressed young women in the party, all utter strangers in Decatur. Peter usually has his one eye open when receiving and giving out money, and thinks he can detect a spurious bank bill as quick as an expert. The party bought some candy, and the man laid down a two dollar bill which Pete states was a rank counterfeit. He looked at it and handed it back without saying a word. The stranger then laid down a five dollar Springfield note, which was better paper, but Pete says that that too was a counterfeit. He handed that bill back, and then the trio left without saying a word and got around the corner and out of sight in remarkably quick time. Pete is satisfied in his own mind that the strangers were shovers and his only regret is that there wasn't an officer handy at the time to take the trio in tow.

THIS forenoon Wm. Deitz, a driver of one of George Hunsley's express wagons, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Broadway, between East Main and Prairie streets. He had 300 pounds of iron fallies on the wagon for D. F. Hamsher, and was coming up town with the load. South of the high bridge on the narrow street he turned out to pass a wagon, but in doing so his wagon slipped and went rolling down the embankment against a lot of wood, with Mr. Deitz mixed up in the wreck. The immense weight took the team down the bank, and one of the horses was badly hurt, the other slightly. The wagon was almost completely demolished. Mr. Deitz escaped with a few slight bruises and torn clothes.

FRANK NELSON, the crazy money-king at the poor farm, is the man who will give $5,000 to secure the location of the state fair in Decatur, if the county board will appropriate an equal amount. He would double or treble the sum on a pinhead. He manufactures his own money and is ready to fill all orders sent in. The other day he had a chat with Oscar Spaulding, of the New Deming hotel, at the poor farm, and took a liking to him on sight. Frank gave Oscar $500 in cash (Nelson money) as a memento of the visit.

THE official call for the special session of the county board was signed to-day, and members of the board will be notified by letter and wire to-day of the meeting which will be held at 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon, to take action on the state fair appropriation matter. The call is signed by Supervisors Freeman, McReynolds and Michl of Decatur, Hoyt of Hartsfield, VanGundy of Milam, and J. R. Hays of Hickory.

THERE were two marked conversions at the revival at the United Brethren church last night in the presence of a large congregation. Considerable interest at this church is being awakened through the efforts of Rev. Trueblood, who will preach again to-night.

Mr. George Andrews, one of the proprietors of the Tremont house, this city, and lately a passenger conductor on the east end of the Wabash, has taken the position of train master of that road, with headquarters at Decatur. He is giving excellent satisfaction, and gave an excellent exhibition of his ability for railroad during the blizzard, when train had to be moved with great care and forethought.

AFTER THE STATE FAIR.

MEETING OF CITIZENS AT THE COURT HOUSE LAST NIGHT—THE ACTION TAKEN.

A public meeting of Decatur citizens was held at the court house last night to take further action with reference to the enterprise of securing the location of the state fair here for two years. There were present Messrs. W. B. Chambers, Mayor Wagner, O. E. Curtis, M. B. Thomas, D. W. Breneman, D. R. Alexander, R. E. Montgomery, W. R. Abbott, J. R. Race, A. Nebinger, D. H. Cloyd, V. H. Parke, Boyd Braden, M. F. Kanan, W. T. Cassins, Jack Cloyd, A. S. Waltz, R. N. Ham, R. L. Walston, H. W. Bartholomew, John Dinneen, C. M. Imboden, D. C. Corley, Geo. S. Durfee, Allen Scott, George Frankhouse, W. B. Harry, John Alexander, J. W. Hartley, Henry Bauer, D. C. Moffatt, J. N. Fuller, John Caffry, J. W. Carter and others.

J. R. Race was selected as chairman and R. E. Montgomery was chosen secretary. A committee, composed of Messrs. W. B. Chambers and D. S. Shellabarger, of Decatur, and J. H. Pickrell, of Harrisburg, was appointed to present the petitions from Decatur and the various townships in the county to the board of supervisors at its called meeting on Monday, said committee to inform that body of the amount of money that had been subscribed by tax payers, and to raise to state that the sum thus raised would be added to any sum the board might appropriate for the improvements of the fair grounds, provided of course that the state fair is located in Decatur. Messrs. V. H. Parke and O. E. Curtis were appointed to confer with the hotel proprietors and get them to promise that they would charge only regular rates. John G. Imboden was directed to communicate with the fat stock men in the state and learn what amount of money they would subscribe, and the railroad committee was likewise directed to telegraph the managers of the different roads centering here and ascertain at once how much they would give. We learn that the Central road has subscribed $1,000 and the P. D. & E. $300.

At the request of the meeting we publish the names of the members of the county board, who will be interviewed personally by all interested in locating the fair here:

Decatur—A. T. Hill, James Freeman, Joseph Michl and B. McReynolds.

Austin—John Johnson.

Blue Mound—H. H. Rosenkrantz.

Macon—Chas. A. Turner.

Marion—M. P. Funk.

Union—John S. Childs.

Harrisburg—J. N. Hoyt.

Long Creek—S. C. Davis.

Oakley—H. Manspoke.

Hickory—J. R. Hays.

Pleasant View—W. J. Evans.

Mt. Zion—Stephen Mahannah.

Westland—Hiram Ward.

The first estimate of the cost of fitting up the grounds was placed at $20,000. Last night it was stated that it could be done for $15,000. Decatur tax payers have subscribed about $8,000 to the fund and no doubt the amount can be swelled to $10,000 or $11,000, if necessary, on a few hours' notice. It is expected that the county board will appropriate $4,000 to $5,000 toward making permanent improvements on the grounds, and if they do, the required sum can be secured. Then Macon county will give a bond with the names of 25 or 30 property owners signed to it, which, with our claim, will be filed at Springfield on Tuesday, and on the 20th the state agricultural board will meet to open and consider the different bids.

The usual contract and order that turns up in a bank in the form of a note accompanies the scheme.
